

WALNUT MEN WILL MEET TO TALK IT OVER

Likely That Growers at Orange
Will Determine on Association Tomorrow

MISSION GROWERS ARE READY FOR IT

Kellogg Speaks at Orange Tomorrow and Santa Ana
Thursday

Friends of the walnut associations believe the sentiment is growing in Orange county. To help it along two meetings of walnut growers are to be held this week, one at Orange at the S. A. V. I. Co. office tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and another at the Santa Ana city hall on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Frank E. Kellogg of Santa Barbara will address both of these meetings.

The result of the meeting at Orange will likely be the establishment of a local association there. Several growers of that vicinity have been talking the matter over and are ready to enter into an association.

There was some talk a short time ago of establishing an association at Tustin, but the sentiment recently expressed seems to be in favor of remaining with the Santa Ana association, and it is not expected that any effort will be made to form a Tustin association.

Walnut men of San Juan Capistrano have given assurances to association men here that an association will be formed in the mission valley. The mission valley always turns out fine quality nuts. It has never worked with the associations, but the advantages of doing so have been made plain to a number of growers there.

ORANGE TO BE OF COUNTIES

In the New Revenue District
Secured by Senator
Flint

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Through the efforts of Senator Flint, the Commission on Internal Revenue has agreed to create a new revenue district comprising the southern counties of California, namely, Los Angeles, San Diego, San Bernardino, Riverside, Imperial, Santa Barbara, Orange, San Luis Obispo, Kern and Ventura. There will be one collector, one chief deputy and seven or eight sub-deputies, all but the collector to be under civil service. The office will be in Los Angeles.

Senator Flint has received assurances from the Appropriation Committee that it will allow the item of $15,000 for the new office, and Commissioner Capers will be able to make up the balance of the $25,000 out of his appropriation. This assures creation of the district.

No one has been considered yet for the collectorship.

COUNCIL IN CONVENTION

SANTA ROSA, Jan. 12.—The state building trades council met here in ninth annual convention today. There were about three hundred delegates present and a number of visitors

PRICES UP ON QUAKE ZONE PRODUCTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Prices of products from Sicily and Calabria have jumped from 25 to 50 per cent as a result of the quake, Messina lemons going from 75 cents and $1 per box to $3. All supplies coming from Palermo and elsewhere are already contracted for at good prices.

In sympathy, California lemons have stiffened in price, quotations now ruling around $4 per box.

It is estimated that 200,000 boxes of lemons were destroyed in Messina warehouses, and present conditions may last some months.

Messina was the main shipping point for lemons to the United States and elsewhere. We import about 2,000,000 boxes of lemons from Italy annually, while California supplies about 1,500,000 boxes, so more than half the normal supply is cut off.

NOW DEMANDS BACK ALIMONY

Myrtle Havens Cited to Show
Why Alimony Was Not Paid

Another Move Made in Troubles of the Havens and Swartz Families

Once more the superior court will have to deal with the troubles of the Havens family. Present members and ex-members. Today a citation was issued to Myrtle Havens, ordering him to appear in the superior court on Jan. 22, to show cause why he had not followed the divorce decree given his wife in 1905, by which he was to pay her $15 per month alimony. The affidavit of Mrs. Minnie Swartz, formerly Mrs. Havens, has been filed. By it she declares that since the decree of court she has received but $354.22 from Havens when she should have received $730. She says Havens never paid $75 attorney fees. J. N. Anderson represents Mrs. Swartz.

On Friday Myrtle Havens' father was given charge of Mabel Havens, daughter of Myrtle Havens, on the claim of the father and grandfather that the home provided for the girl at El Toro was not a proper one.

Various phases of the Havens-Swartz troubles have been in court at various times during the last three years. Mrs. Havens secured a divorce from Myrtle Havens. Mrs. Swartz secured a divorce from C. W. Swartz. Myrtle Havens married the day after the final decree was given. Mrs. Havens became Mrs. Swartz shortly after the Swartz decree was final.

QUEEN OF SPAIN WAS SHOT IN THE FOREHEAD

VIENNA, Jan. 12.—Queen Victoria of Spain was mysteriously shot in the forehead during the recent visit of herself and King Alfonso to the hunting lodge of Archduke Frederick, according to a story printed in the Neue Wiener Journal today.

She had strayed away from the party, and after a sharp report, was found on the ground with a slight, bleeding wound in the forehead. It is thought to have been the attack of a would-be assassin.

FORAKER SET HIS TEETH FOR THE FRAY

Arraigned President in a Bitter
Speech on Brownsville
Case

CALLS DETECTIVE WORK
"UNHOLY, INIQUITOUS"

Charges Soldiers Were Tempted With Confessions Ready Made

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Senator J. B. Foraker, whose term of office ends when President Roosevelt retires from the presidency, made one of his final attacks today upon the president, whom he considers his particular enemy, and who, to a great extent, is believed to be responsible for the threatened elimination of Senator Foraker as a public figure.

The subject of Foraker's speech was the Brownsville case. He characterized the efforts of Herbert Browne and William Baldwin, the special detectives who investigated the Brownsville affair, as "iniquitous, unholy work." He denounced as "atrocious lies" the reports that they secured confessions from discharged soldiers.

He contended that the detectives were employed in violation of the law, and that the payment of $15,000 to them was invalid. He bitterly arraigned the president's action in the investigation, and produced letters from several of the discharged soldiers saying that they had been approached by detectives who "fabricated stories of confessions."

The Senator charged the work of the detectives as a result of a conspiracy, and pointed to a law that prohibited the employment of any detectives in the government service. He declared that the use of any part of the three million dollar emergency fund, from which Browne and Baldwin were paid, was illegal.

CRIME CAUSE IS NOT SHOWN

By Letter of Dead Minister to Wife Telling of Strange Influence

CARTHAGE, Ill., Jan. 12.—The letter written by Rev. Carmichael of Adair, Mich., who committed suicide yesterday, to his wife, was opened here today, and fails to throw any further light on the murder which the preacher confessed in his letter to the sheriff.

He explained to his wife that he was tired of being chased, and said he had written particulars to the sheriff. The letter says:

"I wish I had told you what an influence the man was gaining over me, but I feared you would laugh."

Sheriff Wagensell of Port Huron, said today the confession and letter to the widow were wanderings of a disordered mind.

THINKS CARMICHAEL WAS JUST A CRIMINAL

CALHOUN ON TRIAL TO DAY FACES F. J. HENEY

Who Will Bring Every Means at His Command
To Convict Rich and Powerful
Railroad President

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—Patrick Calhoun, flanked by a corps of attorneys, faced Judge Lawlor today at the opening session of his trial on the charge of offering a bribe of $4000 to Supervisor Fred Nicholas.

Francis J. Heney, standing at the prosecutor's desk, for the first time since he was shot down by Morris Haas during the Abe Ruef trial, began the preliminary motions, of what promises to be the most renowned trial in the history of California. Twenty months have elapsed since Calhoun was indicted.

Both sides in this fight, which has just commenced, are out "for blood." In the language of the ring, a "knock-out" is all that will end the struggle. Nothing else will satisfy. San Francisco, realizing the intensity of the animosities which sway the warring factions, is watching even the first formal steps in the case with bated breath, for there is no telling what a day may bring forth and on the outcome of the battle hangs the fate of the graft prosecution, which has split the city into two warring camps.

Calhoun, rich, shrewd, resourceful and stubborn, has engaged the cleverest lawyers he could find to defend him. He has surrounded them and himself with a small army of private detectives, intently watching every move made by Burns and his agents. He has lined up behind him some of the most influential papers in the state, and he has, as his secret but active aides a number of the city's wealthiest men. He enters the fight with formidable allies. There will be plenty of money and brains working to keep him from the penitentiary, and, if Heney knows what he is talking about, there will be darker and more cruel influences at work, for the graft prosecutor does not hesitate to accuse the Calhoun interests of sharing with Ruef in all the venomous dynamiting, kidnapping, jury bribing plots which have hampered his work here since its inception.

Heney expects to win despite such opposition. Two years' warfare in this city has sharpened his native shrewdness and has taught him what to expect from his opponents. He has learned the weak spots in the armor of his enemies, and he has not failed to profit by the mistakes which he and his associates have committed. The failures to convict others of the graft defendants have not discouraged him but have spurred him on to renewed efforts. He has devoted many months to perfecting this case.

Heney asserts that the evidence which will be presented against Patrick Calhoun will be stronger than that used in any of the three trials of T. L. Ford, chief counsel for the United Railroads—stronger, too, than that used in convicting Ruef.

What San Francisco is anxiously asking itself today is this: Will it convict Millionaire Calhoun?

HUNDRED MEN DEAD IN MINE

Horrible Disaster Follows Close
On Similar One In the Same Mine

Feared Little Hope of Rescue for Men Entombed by Explosion

CINCINNATI, Jan. 12.—A message from Bluefield, W. Va., says a hundred men were killed early today by an explosion in a coal mine at Switchback, where a similar accident occurred three weeks ago.

FATALITY OCCURS FOR THE SECOND TIME IN FORTNIGHT

WELCH, W. Va., Jan. 12.—The accident in which a hundred men were entombed today, an explosion in the Lick Branch Colliery, marks the second disaster in this mine within two weeks.

Relatives of the victims of the previous explosion, when fifty men were killed, are known to be in the mine today. There is believed to be little hope of saving any of the men entombed. Two hundred and fifty men were known to be in the mine at the time of the explosion, but it is believed one hundred and fifty escaped. The explosion occurred just after the day shift had gone to work. A relief train was rushed from Bluefield and the buildings about the shaft were turned into a hospital.

The state mine inspectors, with four assistants, had inspected the mine just before the previous explosion, and pronounced it safe and the best ventilated in the entire region. Another inspection was made after the first explosion but it did not reveal the cause. Switchback, the scene of the disaster, is in McDowell county, and is the center of the Flat Top coal fields.

TEMBLOR WAS OVER NORTH

Seattle, Bellingham and All of Northern Washington
Felt the Shock

Big Buildings Shaken and a
Panic Ensued, But No
Damage Done

SEATTLE, Jan. 12.—Apprehension is felt here regarding the result of the earthquake in Alaska, felt here late yesterday. The cable between Seattle and Sitka went out of commission an hour and a half yesterday before the quake was felt at Puget Sound. It is believed marine disturbances preceded the quake, and disabled the cable. The center of the shock is believed to have been in Southeastern Alaska.

SEATTLE, Jan. 12.—Seattle was severely shaken by an earthquake at 3:55 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The disturbance lasted perhaps half a minute and was of ample force and violence to divert the attention of the shivering populace from the almost arctic weather which has prevailed for a week.

Big buildings were shaken and people were panic stricken. The vibrations were from north to south.

Bellingham and all northwestern Washington were distinctly shaken by the quake. No damage occurred of any consequence but people went shrieking into the streets.

MCINTYRE SAYS HAINS IS VICTIM

Of Conspiracy; Charges Counsel for State With Taking Blood Money

FLUSHING, L. I., Jan. 12.—Attorney McIntyre, defending Jenkins Hains, today began summing up his case. McIntyre declared his client to be the victim of a conspiracy, and arraigned Attorneys White and Dayton, special counsel for the state, charging that they would accept blood money as a retainer for the life of the accused man. He described Hains' actions at the time Annis was shot as those of a loving brother, seeking to protect the captain from the wrath of an infuriated mob.

AREA CUT DOWN IN GRANTING PETITION

Line on the North Runs Quarter Mile Below Limits as Proposed.

BORCHARD'S RANCH LAND OUT OF IT

On South Arm Reaching Along the Rights of Way is Dropped Off

By the cuts made by the Board of Supervisors in the proposed limits of Huntington Beach just before the petition for incorporation was granted, the area of the proposed city was reduced twenty to twenty-five per cent. The limits as passed give the city four miles of sea frontage instead of five and a half as petitioned.

On the north the line was placed a quarter of a mile south of the point named on the petition. This left out half the territory the Huntington Beach Co. asked to have excluded. Instead of the line running straight west to the ocean it takes a turn to the south. By it the lands of the Bolsa Land Co. are excluded, and a portion of S. H. Finley's property was left out and a portion left in.

The line turns south on John Borchard's west line, leaving out his ranch north of W. T. Newland's place. At Newland's corner it turns east in order to include the Newland ranchhouse. At the mesa it turns southwest, following the mesa and the lines proposed by the petitioners.

The limits as put in by the petitioners included an arm following the sandspit toward Newport Beach along the rights of way of the Pacific Electric and the Southern Pacific and taking in the marsh edges of the Pacific and Newport Gun clubs. The line was drawn across the arm near the upper end, and there is no gun club property inside the limits as granted by the supervisors.

Before the Board of Supervisors retired into executive session yesterday afternoon Supervisor Moore asked C. W. Warner, one of the principal speakers for the Huntington Beach petitioners, if the petitioners preferred having the petition denied to having the limits cut. Mr. Warner said he could not answer the question, though he felt that should the Huntington Beach Co. property to the north all be cut off and property to the east of like value given the same cut, the incorporation would not carry.

Preparations are now being made for the election on incorporation, which will be held on Feb. 9.

AMUSEMENTS

Sis Hopkins

One of the most touching and beautiful sentiments expressed in any play on the stage today is in the seminary scene in "Sis Hopkins," the charming rural comedy drama in which Miss Rose Melville is playing again this season. The fashionably dressed rich girls at Miss Peckover's school for young ladies are teasing and simple "Sis" about her new white frock which to tell the plain truth doesn't fit very well, and looks just what it is, a home-made dress for the party. "Sis" has her feelings badly hurt by the nagging of the rest of the girls and finally quieted them by saying very simply and very quietly but with a great deal of pathos, "My Ma made this dress for me, and what she is good enough to make is good enough for me to wear." J. R. Stirling, Miss Melville's manager, has given her a company this year which is excellent to a superlative degree, and the production has been entirely refurbished as to scenery and costume. "Sis Hopkins" will be at the Grand tonight.

PUBLICITY BUREAU COMMUNICATION

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 11, 1909.
Editor Santa Ana Register, Santa Ana, Cal.

Dear Sir:—In your issue of January 8th appears a paper written by Rev. Maxwell Savage who makes several erroneous references to Christian Science and which calls for correction.

Our critic improperly refers to Christian Science as "Eddyism." There is no more reason for this than there would be to refer to Christianity as Lukeism or Johnism. All of these are scribes writing of the spiritual things contained in Christianity, and if Mrs. Eddy's writings are absurd as Mr. Savage thinks them, he must likewise so think of the New Testament, as the teachings are identical.

If our critic were acquainted with the history of Christian Science he would know that Mrs. Eddy did not gain her understanding of Christian Science from Mr. Quimby. This time honored lie is now becoming hoary with age. Time and again this falsehood has been refuted with incontrovertible facts; and in 1883, this matter was settled by the circuit court of the United States in the District of Massachusetts, who issued a perpetual injunction against one Edward J. Arens who infringed Mrs. Eddy's copyrights and who set up as part of his defense that the copyright works of Mrs. Eddy were not original with her, but had been copied from manuscript originally composed by Dr. Quimby. When the time came for taking testimony, Arens gave notice that he would not put in any testimony; and when his attorney was asked the reason, he replied in substance, "There is no evidence to present."

In addition to this Mrs. Eddy agreed to stand the cost of printing and publishing Dr. Quimby's manuscripts in order to expose the falsehoods of parties publicly intimating that she had appropriated matter belonging to Quimby. The whole question of originality was involved in and disposed of by the legal decision referred to, and the fact that Mrs. Eddy is the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, is now formulated as history and acknowledged by encyclopedias, dictionaries and biographical works.

Dr. Quimby was an avowed mesmerist, and Christian Science and Mesmerism are like polar opposites, and could not possibly proceed from the same source.

While advanced thinkers in all ages have held fragmentary ideas akin to those of Mrs. Eddy, and employed similar modes of expression, the discovery of Christian Science belongs to her exclusively, and the Christian Science healing made possible by her discovery has not been practiced since the days of Jesus Christ. It was she who discovered the principle underlying the practice of Jesus and His disciples, and from this principle evolved a scientific system of healing and redemption susceptible of proof.

It is to be regretted that our critic has little respect for Mrs. Eddy and we feel sure that he would have much if he knew how her teachings are freeing mankind from the bondage of sin and disease. He would have still more respect if he knew the purity of life; the self sacrifice; the patient suffering in the face of ridicule, abuse and misrepresentation that enabled her to give the truths of Christian Science to a world whose condition is described in Romans 8:22-23, "For we know that the whole creation groaneth and travaileth in pain together until now. And not only they, but ourselves also, which have the first fruits of the Spirit, even we ourselves groan within ourselves, waiting for the adoption, to-wit, the redemption of our body." To such conditions Christian Science brings the fulfillment of the promise made in Romans 8:21, "Because the creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God."

Could anyone realizing what Christian Science is doing for the inhabitants of the earth withhold respect and love? Certainly not. Has any more important event occurred since the advent of the Master than the discovery that his teachings are just as practicable and demonstrable now as they ever were? Certainly not.

What are the greatest inventions, the mighty engines of commerce and war, the conquest of the air as compared to that which gives to man health, happiness and contentment? Absolutely nothing.

It is small wonder that those who know what Mrs. Eddy has given mankind, love and respect her, and she is entitled to all that is bestowed.

TWO CLASSES WERE FORMED

went-four Ladies Join in the Work Headed by Dr. Tucker

The ladies met yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. parlors and a Bible class was formed under the leadership of Rev. Tucker. About twenty-four ladies were present and report that the lecture given by Dr. Tucker to have been of the greatest interest.

In the evening the men's class met with a goodly number in attendance. It is probable that both classes will be much increased in size at the next meeting.

PLEASANT AFFAIR WAS THIS SHOWER

An extremely pleasant affair took place last evening at the home of Miss Grumm when she and Miss Kraemer entertained in honor of Miss Clara Guenther who is soon to be married to Ernest Bandick.

The rooms were beautifully decorated in a color scheme of green and white, poinsettias being used for the red most effectively.

The shower was of hosiery and linen and many most beautiful and useful presents were received by the bride-to-be.

The gifts were prettily arranged on the table and the opening of the parcels added much to the pleasure of the evening.

Games of various kinds were played and a piano solo by Miss Brude was much appreciated. Dainty refreshments of cakes, salted almonds and ice cream were served.

ALBERHILL COAL A SOUTHERN CALIF. PRODUCT ON THE MARKET

Southern California's Most Valuable Home Product is Creating Much Demand

No wonder Southern California is making such a wonderful gain in population. Year by year Southern California is steadily growing. Southern California is well known for her delightful climate and fertile lands which are the pride of the farmer. Year by year she is growing in the development of new products. To-day we see one of her most valuable products creating a great demand. This new home product is Alberhill coal which was discovered and is now being mined in Riverside County; this brings the people of Southern California a much better and cheaper coal than they have heretofore had.

The coal mines of the Alberhill Coal & Clay Company, sends out the news that they are developing such a quantity of this clean coal that it shall be only a matter of time when all of Southern California will be well supplied with this rich product, a grade of coal at a price at which is only two-thirds of the present price of coal now being supplied from Mexico and Utah points.

The mines of this company have been operated on a very extensive scale. A very high grade of fire clay is just under the coal vein and both coal and clay are being mined out of the same tunnel.

The coal is an excellent quality and burns up clean, making no clinkers; it is also a clean coal to handle and makes no soot—in other words it has proven that it is the cleanest and cheapest coal on the market in California. A large force of men are now employed at the coal mines and the company is wasting no time in doubling their output as the demand is becoming greater every day.

The company is now making preparations to double their present capacity as quickly as possible as the demand for their coal from Los Angeles and other cities is tremendous. Large shipments are being made to different Southern California cities daily. The company is barring no expense to introduce this coal to all consumers in Southern California and is advertising very heavily in all sections. We firmly believe that the Alberhill coal will be consumed by all consumers of coal as it is certainly one of the finest coals ever marketed and one of the company's strong factors is the price being two-thirds less per ton than other coals.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR A HIGH SCHOOL BOY

Last evening twenty young people of Orange "surprised" Ivan Fate, a high school boy, at his home on Chapman avenue. Dainty refreshments of ice cream served in orange shells, and cake were served.

The Knock-out Blow.

The blow which knocked out Corbett was a revelation to the prize fighters. From the earliest days of the ring the knock-out blow was aimed for the jaw, the temple or the jugular vein. Stomach punches were thrown in to worry and weary the fighter, but if a scientific man had told one of the old fighters that the most vulnerable spot was the region of the stomach, he'd have laughed at him for an ignoramus. Dr. Pierce is bringing hope to the public a parallel fact; that the stomach is the most vulnerable organ out of the prize ring as well as in it. We protect our heads, throats, feet and lungs, but the stomach we are utterly indifferent to, until disease finds the solar plexus and knocks us out. Make your stomach sound and strong by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and you protect yourself in your most vulnerable spot. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures "weak stomach," indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, bad, thin and impure blood and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" has a specific curative effect upon all mucous surfaces and hence cures catarrh, no matter where located or what stage it may have reached. In Nasal Catarrh it is well to cleanse the passages with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy fluid while using the "Discovery" as a constitutional remedy. Why the "Golden Medical Discovery" cures catarrhal diseases, as of the stomach, bowels, bladder and other pelvic organs will be plain to you if you will read a booklet of extracts from the writings of eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients and explaining their curative properties. It is mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. This booklet gives all the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines from which it will be seen that they contain not a drop of alcohol, pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead.

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 31 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

RAIN SOUNDS GOOD TO ALL FARMERS

Ranchers are again happy this morning over the renewed downfall of rain. It comes at a time when they were beginning not only to feel a little anxious about the winter crops, but were worrying a little over the fear of a "dry winter." All looks very promising today and the ranchers are wearing smiling faces.

CATARRH CURED

No Cure, No Pay, is a Most Generous Offer

—To get an antiseptic strong enough to kill catarrh germs, and not destroy the tissues of the membrane at the same time, has been a problem which was never solved until the discovery of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mey).

Hyomei is prepared from eucalyptus, the most powerful yet healing antiseptic known. Breathe it through the inhaler over the inflamed and germ-ridden membrane four or five times a day, and in a few days the germs will disappear.

The inflamed condition will go, too, and the snuffling, hawking and offensive breath, and the discharge of mucous and crusts in the nose will cease.

Then why should any catarrh sufferer hesitate, when the Rowley Drug Co. has such faith in Hyomei that they offer to return your money if after a fair trial Hyomei does not cure catarrh.

A complete Hyomei outfit, including the inhaler, costs $1.00, and extra bottles, if afterwards needed, costs but 50 cents. Hyomei also cures asthma, croup, sore throat, colds or grip.

Bee Sting as Cure for Rheumatism (E. T. Burton in the British Medical Journal.)

I was attacked very suddenly on June 24th last with acute arthritis of my right hip, as suddenly succeeded by sciatica of the same side. A fortnight in bed was followed by a fortnight at Drottwich, with a daily bath at 100 degrees for twenty minutes. A small measure of relief was obtained. My treatment consisted of a return to Drottwich, a daily douche of hot water to the offending hip, return to my lodgings and reclining in more or less—chiefly more—pain for the rest of the time. I could not walk a quarter of a mile without two or three stops to relieve my agony, and Drottwich, always helpful before, did me very little good.

Having been promised a supply of bees, I commenced on October 17th the "bee sting cure." I had seven or eight applied in the course of the sciatic nerve and round the hip joint. When I awoke in the morning I was able not only to turn in bed but to get out without hauling myself up in agony by the bedpost, and I walked across the floor without limp or pain for the first time in all but three months. I returned to bed at once and had another half dozen bees applied, subsequently dressing at 12:30 p. m. for dinner. The same night I had five or six more bees applied, and on October 19th the final installment of the same number. I walked well that day, and even ran about fifty yards without pain, and am now, on the evening of October 21st, absolutely free from the slightest twinge. I may add that if I live for three months I shall be 67, and have been a rheumatic subject for twenty-five years.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

It is easy to reform some men, but they won't stay reformed.

Many heiresses would much rather marry a title than have a real husband.

When a woman's temper gets ruffled a man might try edging it with lace.

As long as a man is on good terms with his dinner he is still in the winning class.

When a young man gets to making himself indispensable a girl would better dispense with him at once unless she has made up her mind never to do so.

A man never tells his wife to keep the change. He knows she has enough human intelligence to do it without orders.

One way a young man might try being irresistible is to be a millionaire.

When a man really recognizes that he has the habit he is mistaken; it has him.

Lots of warnings are given just to be warnings and not to be heeded.

Before you slap some people on the wrist be sure a competent surgeon is handy.

To Get the Price. What is it makes us up and dig And sit up nights and scratch our wig And to the music dance a jig? Oh, a dollar!

What makes us fabricate a bit And praise the man of little wit And with hot air his halo fit? Just a dollar.

Why do we figure day and night To get a sucker landed right And when we have him squeeze him tight? For his dollar.

When we'd attain to kingdom come And think we've landed square and plumb. What maybe will obstruct us some? Oh, that dollar!

Newest Diversion. "He is a staunch admirer of the national game."

"What game?" "Baseball. Is there another?" "Well, it is getting to be mighty popular in some quarters to decline to accept a nomination for vice president."

The Coming Man. Do not snub the office boy. He is little; you are great! He's an atom on the force; You are such a heavyweight! Say a kind word to the lad. Though you may be feeling cross. In ten years or maybe less He may have become the boss.

Do not lord it over him In an overbearing way. In a run of several years Petty antics may not pay. Later things may come his way— Fortune is a fickle lass— And he may be signing checks While you're in the same old class.

Now he doesn't count for shucks; Every one about the place Hands him orders right and left. Keeps him always on the chase. If some party makes a jest Of his home stitched trousers patch He'll remember it, you bet. When he runs the shooting match.

When a new and awkward boy Comes in timidly and shy No one seeing him can tell When he'll catch the boss' eye. Wise and knowing ones will not Give the boy the double cross. For it's mighty hard to pick From the lot the future boss.

Love, Honor, Etc. "Has obey been stricken out of the marriage service?" "Yes; I believe it has." "Anything taken its place?" "I think so." "What?" "Divorce."

Nothing Doing. "Let's go out and paint the town." "Can't." "Why not?" "It is a prohibition town, and the best we could do would be to white-wash it."

Not Organized.

"I am a self made man." "One nice thing about that." "What?" "You don't have to carry a union card."

Seemed Like Proof. "You know old Grandfather Money-bags?" "Yes, slightly." "He wants me to marry him." "First I had heard he was in his dotage."

Sweet. I love to sing; I love to play; I love a breezy summer's day; Of all the things I love to do (I've tried it just a time or two) I love to have my own sweet way.

NEWSPAPER BOYCOTT IS INDICTABLE

Some interesting and important declarations regarding the boycotting of newspaper were made in New Orleans recently by Judge Eugene D. Saunders, of the United States District court, in charging the grand jury.

In his remarks related to the effort to re-establish racetrack gambling in that city, and to a combination of certain saloons, hotels and other interests to boycott newspapers which opposed that evil. After some testimony had been taken on the subject, the judge said:

"To boycott a newspaper doing an interstate business is an offense which falls directly under the decision of the United States Supreme court in the Danbury hatters' case.

"We cannot permit a quasi-criminal portion of this population to censor and declare what the newspapers of this city shall be permitted to say in their discussion on public questions. And if there is a conspiracy of this kind then it behooves you to investigate it thoroughly and indict the men engaged in it, so that they may undergo the severest penalties that the law may inflict upon them."

Commenting upon this, the Sacramento Bee says:

"If the boycott were never employed save for a just cause and for justifiable ends, it would be far less open to objection. But this newspaper boycott in New Orleans shows how nefarious a weapon it may be in the hands of vicious elements.

"Although a boycott against a newspaper almost never succeeds, it is conceivable that powerful interests might combine, because of a fearless and outspoken editorial policy for the public good, to inflict much injury and loss upon the publication.

"Any resort to threats or intimidation, or acts in the nature of a conspiracy, designed to throttle the legitimate freedom of the press, assuredly should be punishable with extreme severity by the law.

"The offense is not merely against the publisher, but far more against the public."

THE COMMERCIAL BASIS

This is called the commercial age. We suppose it is because of the tendency of men to reason only in terms of dollars and cents. In other words to measure every thing by the amount of money that can be gotten out of it. "Be sure it pays, then go ahead," is a modern parody on Davy Crockett's famous motto. Not that such perversion of this manly though homely sentiment is by any means universal. On the contrary we are glad to record our conviction that it is the exception. The large majority of our people are sound, and are able to reason, not only in the language of dollars and cents, but as well in terms of honesty and human sympathy.

"Does it pay?" is not the shibboleth of all. If it were, we would soon revert to barbarism. And from such a state, barbarism would be a refuge, for it would deliver us from the possibility of estimating all things sacred and profane, by money values. Better for us to struggle with and be dressed in the skins of wild beasts and possess healthy human instincts, with social virtues, than to walk on paved streets, clothed in purple and fine linen, with the hearts of vultures. With the instincts and impulses that are developed in the money-mad, what is life worth? It is an unnatural and artificial craving, and great and awful are the penalties for the constant violation of those wholesome laws of our moral nature which an all-wise Providence has made a part of our being. A reasonable observance of those laws means happiness for us and ours. But a persistent disregard of them as surely brings trouble as to override the laws of health. This the people who are willing to do anything for money are constantly bringing upon themselves and others.

"Does it pay?" has of course its proper uses when applied to the production and distribution of the means of life. Being under the competitive system, its range of application is necessarily a wide one. We must get something to do that "pays," or go to the wall. But when taken from its proper sphere, the test "does it pay?"

is an awful thing, and is responsible for nearly all the ills of life.

This much by way of preface. There was once a time when horse racing was indeed "the sport of kings," but now it is the sport of knaves, with fools as the game. This change is the result of placing it on a commercial basis. From being the sport of kings it has developed, or degenerated—as you like it—into a business, and a business that can be made to pay only by a system of robbery. Under that system men who are trained in all its intricacies and skilled in working on the susceptibilities of the uninitiated, make it "pay." The process of separating the unsuspecting from their money on the race track, with no equivalent in return, is with them a "science" of which they are proud. In fact it is a profession that in its fundamental principles is taught by experts and requires as much time, study and practice to acquire as a university of education.

But let us be fair with the racing people, even though they are not, from our standpoint, fair to others. This much we can say by way of extenuation: For the most part they are a people who have never known any other way of "making a living." They have been raised in the belief that the world owes them a living. They take their chances, and why are others any better than they. The rules of the game are all the laws they have ever learned to respect. These rules constitute their only code, and by living up to them they often lose out. The terms "fraud," "robbery," "hold-up," etc., have a different meaning with them than with us. With them they have reference to violations of the rules of the turf. Such violations are to them the highest crimes short of murder. With them to be a "Rube" is as bad as to be a defaulting cashier with us. To play the races with success is with them the sum of human virtue and glory. To such ideas they are bred and born, and birth and breeding are hard to overcome.

The above is not a very strong case for the followers of the race track, though we have done for them the best we could. We have said thus much in their favor in order to emphasize some things we are going to say concerning some one else.

But before doing so, we have another little preface: Race track gambling is differentiated from stock gambling and other forms of the game, in that it always associates with it those twin devils, the scarlet woman and the saloon.

Without these, race track gambling would be a tame and profitless affair, lacking the means of doing business. The saloon and the red light district are the recruiting stations for that great army of victims which our racing associations annually send to the social rubbish heap. And these three—this unholy trinity—the race track, the saloon and the red-light district—are working together in mutual assistance, re-enforcing and supplementing each other in the great BUSINESS of ruining men and women and boys and girls FOR MONEY. The three are now all on a commercial basis, and the business of robbing and ruining our people "pays." Pays better than farming, better than carpentering, than honest labor, better than selling goods, and is easier. True the mere money filched is as nothing to the toll taken of men and women and boys and girls, and honor and virtue, of human life and happy homes. We cannot estimate these things by the coin of the realm, but there are those who can. They are those whom we mentioned in the beginning who reason only in dollars and cents. How they do it, we surely do not know. But we know that with them nothing but money counts. Honor in man and virtue in woman are with them mere figments of a sentimental imagination, and do not exist elsewhere. "Business is business," is their motto, whether working a farm or a fool.

Now let us look a little further: Commercial horse racing has proven itself such an unbearable calamity that from everywhere it has been driven out, except from California. But why not from California? Simply because our legislature, our boards of supervisors and city councils in certain places have interposed to protect those engaged in the business. They decree that these hyenas shall be turned loose on their constituents to feast and fatten as they may. Popular protest has been of no avail, and our sworn protectors laugh at our misery and disgrace. They and not the racing people themselves are the real cause of these things. Which is to blame, the wolf or the one who turns him into the fold? These law-makers are really the ones who have shed the blood of our young men, robbed our employers and poisoned the social and financial fountain. They are a thousand times more heartless and cruel than the wretches they turn loose upon us—the gamblers and yeggmen who follow in their path. These creatures come to our state from the east, and as foreign foes and invaders are entitled to immeasurably more respect than the traitors at home, who open our gates to them.

Now the people have again appealed to Sacramento. A stern demand for relief has gone up from all over the state. This time there is an insistence in it that alarms the race track politicians—for that kind of vermin actually exists in California. Not only so, but he is backed by a strong lobby and plenty of money that has been filched from the hapless victims of the race track.

Will they again succeed in defeating the will of the people of this state by again foisting upon us this army of rapine and plunder? In other words, is the California legislature, like the saloon, the red-light district and horse racing, ON A COMMERCIAL BASIS?

has no "patent process" for success in FARMING or in BUSINESS. We have noticed that sometimes a hit or a "streak of luck" has opened wide the door to success, but we have found the safest plan to be that ever present duty on the old farm "way down east—we just DUG, and we are still digging, albeit the digging is easier and it don't take so long to fill the basket as it did, when long years ago we first began to dig, and there is fun in digging.

A short time ago a young man complained that there is "no chance these days" for him and no opening in sight; while we noticed that he wanted to begin where the Old Man left off, and there's the rub.

If the young man of today will do well what he finds to do and does not put in too much time watching the clock, he will find the door to success has the latch string on the outside.

Whether you buy or sell, give every one a square deal.

Delta Alphas Give Banquet

One of the most pleasant events in the annals of the two classes was the banquet given last evening by the Delta Alphas of the First Methodist church to the Baraca class and its class teacher, Miss Sarah Gardner. The event took place at the Pine street home of Miss Maude Powers, the large cheerful rooms being charmingly decorated with smilax.

Violets were scattered over the white linen that draped the banquet table and a big bouquet of the fragrant flowers was the center piece. The menu of the three course banquet follows:

Oyster Cocktail
Veal Loaf      Scalloped Potatoes
Olives      Sandwiches
Fruit Salad      Cake
Coffee

Partners were obtained for the spread in a unique way. Retiring to another room, the gentlemen composed love letters to the young ladies. These were shaken up and drawn again by the boys, who presented and read them while on their knees before the maidens of their choice. They had been told that a mitten would mean rejection and a heart, acceptance. Strange to say, each received a heart tied with yellow ribbon and inscribed "Yours for the Banquet."

About forty were seated at the banquet table and toasts were given and responded to as follows, D. W. tears presiding as toastmaster.

Welcome—Miss Inez Crane.
Response—Curtin Wells.
Review of Past Year—Miss Elsworth.

Reading Future of This Year—Leonard Baker.
Is Marriage a Failure?—Prof. Albert Shaw.

Timely Remarks—Miss Gardner and D. W. Stearns.

A Charming Entertainment

The little rain showers of last evening did not interfere with the success of the Philharmonic Quintette entertainment at Spurgeon's Hall, in either attendance or rendition of the delightful program, for the hall was filled with an appreciative audience and the program was given with a verve and a swing and an artistic excellence that pleased even the most critical.

Nothing but praise can be given the members of this quintette. Nuncie Sabine Bittman, with her charming personality and beautiful contralto voice, was irresistible in the vocal numbers she rendered so admirably. Miss Lottie Buisseret is convincingly a youthful genius. A girl probably of not more than sixteen, she plays the violin with a magic touch, playing Raff's Cavatina and Godard's Because from Jocelyn with a sympathetic interpretation that was marvelous. Miss Buisseret is a singer as well as a violinist and in costume most pleasingly gave a group of Scotch songs.

The reader of the quintette, Miss Pearl Helen Herndon, has appeared here before with Ernest Phillips, and last night emphasized the success of her previous visit. She presented a character sketch and "That Old Sweetheart of Mine" with musical setting. The last was a particularly delightful number.

Miss Enid Lynn Behymer so widely known here, was enthusiastically received, and her beautiful whistling, sweet as the lilt of a full throated bird, was captivating. Her numbers were Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" and "Carmena" (H. Lane Wilson). Miss Behymer has a beautiful stage appearance, as well as an exquisite and invaluable gift in her bird like whistle.

Miss Orcutt was an admirable accompanist, playing in a sympathetic touch with the singer she supports. Her playing in the overture "Poet and Peasant," was brilliant.

The closing ensemble number was unique and was a generous addition to the program. It was a quartette "Happy Days," in which Mrs. Bittman had the vocal part. Miss Behymer whistled, Miss Buisseret played the violin and Miss Orcutt the piano. A prettier ending could not have been devised and it added immensely to the delight of the already pleased audience.

The Y. M. C. C., under whose auspices the Quintette appeared, are to be congratulated in presenting so sterling an attraction, and on the financial success of their venture.

Miss Hazel Roberts went up to Los Angeles this morning and will hear Madame Galski tonight. She will be a guest of the Behymers.

L. W. Carson of Garfield, Wash., brother of Mrs. R. Y. Williams, spent Sunday and Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Williams. He is down for a visit with his family at Long Beach, and took a run over here for a brief stay.

Taylor's father has been bringing pressure on Perry to get him to drop the case against him. However, the reason for returning Taylor to Los Angeles for trial is that the cases against him there are stronger than the one here. # PAPER ON SOCIALISM READ BEFORE MONDAY CLUB BY DR. C. D. BALL

At the meeting of the Monday Club last night, Dr. C. D. Ball read a paper on "Socialism" that aroused considerable discussion and interest. By motion the club requested E. M. Nealey of Tustin, a member of the club, to present a paper on some phase of the subject at the next meeting of the club. Dr. Ball's paper in part follows:

SOCIALISM

Go back to the dawn of history and we find the classes arrayed against the masses, the brain against the brawn, with the classes ever reaping the harvest. Age has followed age; civilization has followed civilization, but brain has ever ruled the brawn. It is a law of nature that the fittest survive.

In the old tribal times the wisest and strongest became the leaders. As the tribe increased in number it was necessary for the leader to associate with him other strong and able men to hold the many in subjection. Through war slaves were obtained, so gradually classes formed and it became necessary to make laws to protect the leaders. Brain claimed all these and Brawn readily consented to the distribution. In fact Brawn, when his belly is full, never objects to anything. Brain, looking to the welfare of his children, constructed the law so that his children and children's children could own the land until they saw fit to dispose of it. Then too, he arranged the law so that no one but himself or his children could add to it, detract from it or change it in the least. Of course Brawn did not object, for Brain told him it was all right. When one of Brawn's offsprings protested against the injustice of it all, Brain told Brawn that the boy was presumptuous, that he was trying to run things and that he should be punished, so Brawn punished him. However, Brain immediately adopted him, much to Brawn's surprise.

Of course Brain waxed fat and mighty, great wealth became his. His lands produced and he traded with his neighbors, commerce resulted. This brought Brain still greater wealth. Brawn was contented when his dinner pail was full. In fact he thought he was about as prosperous as Brain. Wealth and commerce made a demand for manufactured goods, so manufacturing took its place with farming and commerce as a great industry.

As Brain's wealth accumulated, his ambition for wealth increased in manifold ratio. He made laws to protect the manufacturing, laws that added mightily to his wealth.

Now while all this was transpiring Brawn managed to keep his stomach full most of the time, and to keep out of the hospital when he was well.

Brawn, notwithstanding his phlegmatic temperament, has occasionally made it unpleasant for his master. Of course the most notable instance of this was when he tipped over the French throne, but it was a bungling job and did not better his condition in the end.

The scientists tell us that countless ages ago a law known as the law of evolution was evoked to solve the problem of the development of mankind. That law did not become inoperative when the transition from monkey to man occurred. Man must continue to improve and develop until all at least have an equal opportunity.

At present there are many able men among workmen, especially in Germany and the United States; men who are earnestly striving to better the conditions of their fellow men. Arrayed with these men are many of the best thinkers of our age. Our universities are the hot beds of Socialism. Our greatest teachers are Socialists and many of them boldly advocate Socialism. The theory of Socialism is a product of evolution. Since Plato's time men have dreamed of a cooperative brotherhood; they have loved to linger with Sir Thomas Moore in his delightful Utopia. Greeley, Dana and Hawthorne were Socialists, and throughout their writings we ever encounter the teachings of Socialism.

Modern Socialism was founded by Karl Marx and Frederic Engeles. The declaration of principles written by Marx in 1864 has formed the basis of all Socialist platforms since that time and reads as follows:

"In consideration that the emancipation of the working class must be accomplished by the working class itself, that the struggle for the emancipation of the working class does not signify a struggle for class privileges and monopolies, but for equal rights and duties, and the abolition of class rule;

"That the economic dependence of the working man upon the owner of the tools of production, the sources of life, forms the basis of every kind of servitude, of social misery, of spiritual degradation, and political dependence;

"That, therefore, the economic emancipation of the working class is the great end to which every political movement must be subordinated as a simple auxiliary;

"That all exertions which, up to this time, have been directed toward the attainment of this end have failed on account of the want of solidarity between the various branches of labor in every land, and by reason of the absence of brotherly bond of unity between the working classes of different countries;

"That the emancipation of labor is neither a local nor a national, but a social problem, which embraces all countries in which modern society exists, and whose solution depends upon the practical and theoretical co-operation of the most advanced countries;

"That the present awakening of the working class in the industrial countries of Europe gives occasion for a new hope, but at the same time contains a solemn warning not to fall back into old errors, and demands an immediate union of the movements not yet united.

"The First International Labor Congress declares that the International Working Men's Association, and all societies and individualities belonging to it, recognize truth, right and morality as the basis of their conduct toward one another and their fellow men, without respect to color, creed, or nationality. This Congress regards it as the duty of man to demand the rights of a man and citizen, not only for himself, but for every one who does his duty. No rights without duties; no duties without rights."

Could anything be more fair or just. It is a curious fact, that as the world's wealth has augmented, everything but money has increased in value. Today an individual worth fifty thousand dollars is not as wealthy as he would have been two score years ago had his fortune amounted to ten thousand dollars. It is another curious fact that today very few are making moderate fortunes. How many of your immediate friends have accumulated wealth?

For many years, in this country there were three classes, the rich, the poor and the well-to-do. While the poor were somewhat numerous, the well-to-do formed the bulk of the population. The rich were so little in evidence that a rich man was looked upon as a curiosity. In my boyhood days there were but three millionaires in the United States, Stewart, Vanderbilt and Astor. Now the poor have increased in proportion to the population and so have the rich. The poor are still abjectly poor but the wealth of the rich has increased mightily. A millionaire is no longer rich. The great well-to-do middle class has not increased in number and has relatively grown poorer. If no check is placed upon class legislation as it now exists, the time is not far distant when there will remain but two classes; the rich, a limited few immensely wealthy, and the poor, comprising the great bulk of the population, practically destitute.

During the middle ages, as stated above, land was the great source of wealth but toward the end of the eighteenth century, hand tools began to give way to machinery and the modern factory became a great wealth producer, perhaps the greatest. Of course the owners of the factories established society in accordance with their own interests. Nearly all laws were enacted in their favor. As time passed they became simply directors of industry depending upon hired workers to perform the labor. There were many of these workers and they were all essential to the welfare of the masters. But as mechanical improvements multiplied, as labor saving machines were invented, there was not the demand for the workman as of yore. The strike once so potent with these laborers is now of little avail. Having no interest in the manufactured product, after it was manufactured, they must produce or starve. In self defense labor unions resulted. Out of production and protection grew the Trust. The Trust was economical, it put an end to competition and it could exist without the protection of law, indeed it could and did, defy law. The Trust, an economic, labor saving co-partnership, threw still more men out of employment.

The Socialist believes that man, having made the laws, has a perfect right to change them, that even the Supreme Court should not have the power to pass upon the constitutionality of laws. He believes too that many of the existing laws are unjust because they protect the rich man only, and he demands that they be revoked.

Public ownership is a delightful theory and in a limited way of use in communities. Were the government to own and operate all public means of transportation and communication and all land, the party in control of the government would remain in power forever; even now the patronage is so great that it is almost impossible to overthrow the party in power. The Socialist tells us that, in that halcyon time to come, there will be no parties. But there will be parties so long as there are men. There will be a difference of opinion as to who shall do the milking and who shall entertain the preacher; who shall do the dirty work, and who will direct the workmen. But rest assured that the brainiest ones will take their choice.

The United States has never taken the Socialist seriously, but Germany has. There were over three million Socialist votes there in the election of 1903. Every country in Europe is feeling the influence of Socialism. The last election here, was discouraging to the American Socialist, but he is still in the fight and the battle is on. His ranks will be constantly augmented from the laboring classes. We have now reached the point when we cannot give employment to all of the unemployed; there are more than a million of this class now in the United States. Our public lands are all but exhausted, our home markets are glutted, our foreign trade is threatened on all sides. We are now standing around in a helpless way, denying that such conditions exist and claiming that everything is prosperous. Yes, the battle is on, the battle between capital and labor. Labor must fight or starve, capital shows no disposition to yield. It is now a battle of ballots. Yet stranger things have happened. Wise statesmanship may avert the storm. What political party will furnish the statesmen?

—This is a simple home recipe now being made known in all the larger cities through the newspapers. It is intended to check the many cases of rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble which have made so many cripples and invalids and weaklings of some of our brightest and strongest people.

The druggists here have been notified to supply themselves with the ingredients, and the sufferer will have no trouble to obtain them. The prescription is as follows. Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce, and Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle. The dose is one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Recent experiments prove this simple mixture effective in rheumatism, because of its positive action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys. It compels these most vital organs to filter from the blood and system the waste impurities and uric acid which are the cause of rheumatism. It cleanses the kidneys, strengthens them and removes quickly such symptoms as backache, blood disorders, bladder weakness, frequent urination, painful scalding and discolored urine. It acts as a powerful stimulant to the entire kidney and bladder structure.

Those who suffer and are accustomed to purchase a bottle of medicine should not let a little inconvenience interfere with making this up.

In such wet winters as we had in 1889 there wouldn't be the slightest thought of holding back the water and spreading them out. To the benefit it would do us, I will that it all depends upon the year other matters. If the upper users wells and take the underflow of river it will not help us any to spread all the water spread out. If the outside and up-country users agree to take out any more water than they are taking out now it would help in some years."

BANKERS BANQUET AFTER REGULAR ANNUAL MEETING

Farmers and Merchants National Bank and Home Savings Bank Make Fine Showing

A joint meeting of the stockholders of the Farmers & Merchants' National Bank and the Home Savings Bank was held this forenoon and the old directors and officers were re-elected as follows:

Directors: W. A. Huff, R. H. Sanborn, C. F. Mansur, Dr. J. R. Medlock, J. D. Parsons, J. A. Turner. Officers: W. A. Huff, president; R. H. Sanborn, vice president; J. A. Turner, cashier; H. T. Rutherford, assistant cashier; R. H. Sanborn, Jr., assistant cashier.

The joint assets of the two banks is over three quarters of a million dollars; the national bank showing $662,247.00, and the savings bank having $102,000.

Two 6 per cent semi-annual dividends were declared during the past fiscal year, putting the bank on a 12 per cent basis.

After the meeting, the stockholders repaired to the Rossmore hotel to partake of a "family dinner," as Cashier Turner called it. There were just half of the stockholders in attendance, Mr. Turner said, after counting those seated at the table. The stockholders number an even 150 and 75 of those were present, besides a few invited guests.

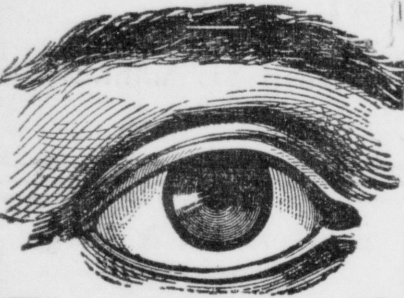

After the bountiful and delicious turkey dinner had been enjoyed, Cashier Turner explained the financial statement, which had been presented at the meeting. He said, in substance, that the bank has now loaned out $480,000—that the loans throughout the year will average $425,000 at least, showing gross earnings of a little over $31,000. The operating expenses are just about $10,000 a year, leaving net earnings of at least $20,000.

Mr. Turner congratulated the bank and the community upon the splendid body of men composing the stockholders, and said they were a guarantee for every dollar deposited in the bank, no matter what might happen in the way of financial disaster. "There isn't a man among them," he said, "who isn't strong enough, both financially and morally to stand the limit of assessment provided for protection without feeling it."

After Mr. Turner's talk President W. A. Huff gave an informal invitation to the stockholders to talk. In response to repeated calls S. Hill, Dr. Bally and J. P. Baumgartner spoke briefly, after which the company dispersed.

1000 SHOPMEN RETURN TO WORK AFTER STRIKE

DENVER, Jan. 12.—One thousand shopmen of the Denver and Rio Grande railway, who struck last March, will return to work on Thursday. The shopmen and the railroad both made concessions, having reached an agreement at a conference with the unions getting a shade of the best of the arrangements.

GENERAL BOOTH IS NOW RECOVERING HIS SIGHT

LONDON, Jan. 12.—General Booth, the venerable head of the Salvation Army, is gradually recovering his sight after under-going a painful operation for the removal of a lenticular cataract of the right eye.

In some varieties of this disease the cataract can be scraped from the eye, leaving the lens intact, but in General Booth's case the cataract was in the lens itself, which therefore had to be cut out. As the General's advanced age rendered the use of chloroform imprudent, cocaine was employed as a local anesthetic.

AND NOW "BRER POSSUM" IS TO FOLLOW "TEDDY BEAR"

ATLANTA, Georgia, Jan. 12.—"Possum has suddenly become a fad, since president-elect asked that it be served at the banquet to be given him by the Chamber of Commerce of this city. A company is to be formed for the manufacture of "Billy Possum" to succeed the long-popular "Teddy Bears."

AMUSEMENTS

Sis Hopkins
One of the most touching and beautiful sentiments expressed in any play on the stage today is in the semi-annual scene in "Sis Hopkins," the charming rural comedy drama in which Miss Rose Melville is playing again this season. The fashionably dressed rich girls at Miss Peckover's school for young ladies are teasing quaint and simple "Sis" about her new white frock which to tell the plain truth doesn't fit very well, and looks just what it is, a home-made dress for the party. "Sis" has her feelings badly hurt by the nagging of the rest of the girls and finally quiets them by saying very simply and very quietly but with a great deal of pathos, "My Ma made this dress for me, and what she is good enough to make is good enough for me to wear." J. R. Stirling, Miss Melville's manager, has given her a company this year which is excellent to a superlative degree, and the production has been entirely refurbished as to scenery and costume. "Sis Hopkins" will be at the Grand tonight.

BIG LAND MATTER INVOLVES MUCH

Attempt is Made to Have 40,000 Acres Declared as Swamp Land

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—State Surveyor General Kingsbury and United States Surveyor General Graham at San Francisco will have to decide within the next three weeks or a month a problem involving 40,000 acres of Palo Verde Valley land, on the outcome of which depends the gain or loss of a million and a half to two groups of Los Angeles land-seekers. The two groups are fighting each other, but both desire the same object: To have the 40,000 acres declared swamp instead of desert land, in which event it would revert to the state and could then be purchased for $1 an acre, though it is worth forty times that much.

There are scores of homesteaders and desert land claimants in the territory concerned, and their status, together with the question of how the plan to have that part of the valley declared swamp and overflowed land will affect them, are involved. They are preparing to enter the fight, too, and the case probably will become intensely interesting, if not sensational, as the case develops.

The land is situated to the southwest of the immense Blythe ranch, which is now being sold off in small farms at $45 to $60 an acre.

PLEADED TO PASSIVITY
*****
PORTLAND, Jan. 12.—The Oregon senatorial situation is not believed to be materially affected by the election of leaders in both houses who are opposed to Governor Chamberlain, the Democrat who was the choice of the people at the last election.
The anti-Chamberlain men were compelled to promise before their election to the leadership of the two houses, that they would not use their power in the senatorial fight.
The forces favoring that the Republican legislators break their pledges and elect a Republican, despite Chamberlain's election by the people, are being led by National Committeeman Williams, a banker.

RAILROAD PROFESSES TO CARE "NOT A RAP"

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—Following the action of the Santa Monica trustees in revoking the franchise of the Los Angeles Pacific, General Manager Robert Sherman, of the railroad, today declared the company would not appeal to the courts. He said: "We will attend to our own business and ignore any action the people of Santa Monica may take. Santa Monica no longer exists for us. I do not think we will have to withdraw from Santa Monica but it makes no difference if we do. Santa Monica is not essential to our existence."

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 12.—The Council of Ministers today rejected Austria's offer of $10,800,000 indemnity for the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina, the Balkan states hitherto under the suzerainty of Turkey.
